STRATOSPHERE BAG COLLAPSE HALTS AIR TRIP

Disaster Overtakes Grant Balloon Ready for Take-Off Into Ether

RAPID CITY, S.D., July 12.—Disaster overtook the National Geographic Society's Army Air Corps stratosphere balloon here early this morning as the giant bag collapsed from an unexplained cause one hour before the scheduled take-off at 4 a.m. (mountain standard time).

No one was injured, but five men working on the gondola preparatory to lashing the metal ball to the balloon were forced to jump to safety. Guards also scattered quickly to avoid injury.

The top of the stratosphere bag burst open without warning, permitting 275,000 cubic feet of helium gas to escape and definitely halting the projected flight.

Captain Albert W. Stevens, flight commander, said he had "absolutely no explanation" for the mishap. He added that an investigation would be made but nothing would be done immediately.

Mrs. Orvil A. Anderson, wife of the balloon pilot, was one of the first to rush onto the scene, searching for her husband. He was unhurt.

Collapse of the balloon, said to be the world's largest, brought an abrupt end to 15 hours' feverish activity in the rock-bound hollow, 11 miles from here.

After nearly six weeks of delay principally because of unfavorable weather, the start was decided on yesterday noon. A crew of 200 soldiers was summoned to inflate the bag.

STATESTEWEN BATTLE OVER VERSAILLES TREATY

BRITISH HOUSE STORM OVER ISSUE OF FOREIGN POLICY

Lloyd George and Sir Austen Chamberlain Lock Horns - Odd Anti-Climax to Sir Samuel Hoare's Moderation Plea.

By GEORGE HAMILTON
LONDON, July 12.—The House of Commons last night was in a storm as David Lloyd George, erstwhile Liberal leader, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, former Conservative foreign secretary, battled over the Treaty of Versailles, economic sanctions and the whole course of British foreign policy.

It was an odd anti-climax to the plea for moderation and tolerance voiced by Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, discussing the foreign situation.

PIECE OF BLUSTER
Lloyd George continued the foreign affairs debate with a speech in which he called the Treaty of Versailles a "piece of bluster," and talked of the "humbug hypocrisy" of the resolution passed subsequently at Geneva.

He described the powers carrying the ark of the covenant into action and leaving it in the hands of the Philistines. He was disappointed because Sir Samuel had rather disclaimed approach of "our European friends" with a view to carrying out League of Nations obligations.

"It should not be thought by Italy," said the Little White Man, with reference to possible economic sanctions against treaty breakers, "that under no circumstances would we seek co-operation with a view to carrying out the resolution adopted at Geneva to which Mussolini himself was a party in April."

"If Italy is left under that impression I am perfectly certain the last chance of avoiding war has gone."

SITUATION WORSE
Lloyd George said too the international situation was probably worse than it had been since the war. Germany, Italy and Japan had flouted the League. The whole disarmament discussions were scrapped while armaments were mounting.

If the League failed to settle the Ethiopian dispute its last vestige of authority was gone. Sir Austen Chamberlain asked bitterly if Lloyd George thought the cause of peace was helped by lecturing every other nation.

"May I beg your honorable friend," Sir Austen urged, "not to supply those who already have a large manufacture at home with more fallacies." He charged Lloyd George's incursions into history were incorrect.

HAS BEEN ASLEEP
"When he says all the harsh provisions of the Treaty of Versailles applied, has he been asleep?" Sir Austen asked. "Have literary labors occupied his time he had no time to read what has been going on—repairs swept away, the occupation of Germany terminated five years before its time."

The Versailles treaty did not fix a reparations figure at all. Lloyd George interrupted, jumping to his feet. "It said Germany must pay to the utmost limit of her capacity."

"If my right honorable friend cannot get world history correctly," retorted Sir Austen, "do let him remember his own history."

"Lloyd George has called Streseman a 'fatuous blunderer,'" the former foreign secretary continued, "but in view of the German rearmament what would Lloyd George himself have done?"

"I would never have allowed things to get to that state," said Lloyd George.

"He means he would have had the French army march into Germany at once," replied Sir Austen.

"Answer, answer," shouted the Conservatives.

"If his statement doesn't mean that, it doesn't mean anything," Sir Austen insisted.

"What do you mean by an economic sanction?" Lloyd George shot back.

ECONOMIC BLOCKADE
Lloyd George answered: "It is an economic blockade. It is an act of war. Nothing short of war would make economic sanction effective."

"That shows you know nothing about it," sharply retorted Lloyd George.

"I thank the right honorable gentleman for his courtesy," caustically returned Sir Austen, "and I leave it at that."

So Lloyd George apologized and the battle ended.

POINT FINGER OF ACCUSATION AT EX-CONVICT

Both Kidnapped Boy and Mrs. Waley Tell Stories

By TACOMA, Wash., July 12.—

George Weyerhaeuser, victim of kidnappers, and Margaret Waley, alleged victim of circumstance both pointing accusing fingers at the fugitive William Mahan in Mrs. Waley's fast moving trial on "Lindbergh law" charges here Thursday.

The 18-year-old girl, testifying in her own defense, said the ex-convict threatened to kill her, her husband and the boy if she betrayed any knowledge of the abduction.

NAMES ABDUCTORS
Mrs. Waley was called to testify shortly after the nine-year-old kidnapped victim was called to the stand of nearly eight days in the hands of his kidnappers, when he named as Mahan and Harmon M. Waley, husband of Mrs. Waley.

George's failure to name Mrs. Waley provoked a furious but unsuccessful defense technical attack on the government's case, which was raised shortly after the boy testified.

Defense Attorney John E. Dore contended George's testimony had "wrecked the government's claim" that he had been transported across the Idaho state line, thus making the federal law operative in the abduction.

MOTION OVERULED
Federal Judge E. E. Cushman, however, overruled the defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal and dismissal of a kidnapping conspiracy count.

Mrs. Waley, harkening and in a colorful voice, testified Mahan, charged as William Dainard, made his threats "I asked any questions or let on like I knew what was going on."

IRVINE FAVORS SOCIAL CREDIT
WETASKIWIN, Alta., July 12.—Chosen unanimously at a United Farmers of Alberta nominating convention here Thursday to contest Wetaskiwin constituency in the coming Dominion elections, William Irvine, M.P., said he had been a confirmed advocate of social credit for 14 years.

Declaring restoration of national credit to the people was the first essential to construction of a new social order, Mr. Irvine stated he could not see how all the promises made in Alberta could be carried out.

COMMUNISTS, C.C.F. CLASH AT TORONTO

Differences Aired at Meeting to Protest Arrest of Shaw

TORONTO, July 12.—Members of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation clashed with members of the Communist party last night as a meeting was held in Queen's Park to protest the arrest of Matt Shaw under section 98 of the Criminal Code.

A. E. Smith, general secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence League announced the league was not a Communist organization. Section 98 was not just a law, it was a piece of "treason." Laws were necessary in any organized society. His organization was opposed to violence and terrorism and proposed "law and order, but it is a working class law and order."

Graham Spry, C.C.F. candidate in Broadview, replied to Mr. Smith, declaring Tim Buck would not win in North Winnipeg, that "A. A. Heaps, C.C.F. candidate would be elected."

Mr. Spry said he was glad to join with anybody, including Communists, in protesting Shaw's arrest under section 98 when he had committed no offence. The C.C.F. was "heart and soul" behind his defense.

Fish Merchant Takes Up Duel Defy Hurled At Fellow Englishman

Hot for Action to Turn Fire-Eating Italian Into a Salamander — A N y Weapons Will Suit.

LONDON, July 12.—Edward A. Dickinson, Billingsgate fish merchant, last night announced himself hot for action to turn "the fire-eating Italian," Captain G. A. Fanelli, "into a salamander."

Revealing he has challenged the Italian challenger of his fellow-British Major Clement Richard Altie, who turned down Fanelli's proposal for a duel on the ground that it was "absurd and barbarous," Dickinson said:

"If this fire-eating Italian fellow wants to eat fire I'll give it to him to eat. I believe in the freedom of speech enough to fight for it."

He said he is willing to leave the choice of weapons to Fanelli.

ROME, July 12.—Declaring "All Englishmen aren't cowards," a letter signed by "Dickinson," a Highbury Grange, London, was received here Thursday challenging Captain G. A. Fanelli to a duel.

The letter writer offered to substitute Mayor Clement Richard Altie, deputy leader of the opposition to Italian fascism, whom he declined to accept Fanelli's challenge on the ground that duels are "absurd and barbarous."

"Being of the opinion that the non-acceptance of your challenge by Major Altie was a slur on British honor," said the letter writer, "I would consider it an honor if you would permit me to take the place of your speech and action."

"All Englishmen aren't cowards," I trust you will allow me to take up the challenge. Trusting this meets with your approval and thus allows an Englishman jealous of his country's history and tradition the opportunity to prove his sincerity, I am, etc."

Captain Fanelli is at present away from Rome, but his friends say they understand he is unlikely to accept the challenge as his quarrel is with Altie.

NEW PROPOSAL TO END SCRAP IN ETHIOPIA

Settlement Plan Advanced by Austria Causes Excitement

VIENNA, July 12.—An Austrian proposal for the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, launched Thursday by the semi-official Reichspost, has excited considerable interest in diplomatic circles.

The plan is believed to have been published after consultations in authoritative Italian quarters.

The Reichspost proposes France take the initiative with the League of Nations to obtain an agreement for objective consideration of "the Ethiopian problem" as a problem of the major powers' responsibility to ward a backward region, rather than as a dispute between Italy and Ethiopia.

Tom Walters' Pigeons Beg For Drink, Not On Bat, But Long Journey

may have been a pigeon racing fan. Tom Walters never answered the letter or found out just for what reason the birds were in demand.

RACING PIGEON FAN
His present order from that country is a different proposition. Mr. Walters is a Canadian pigeon fancier, who explains why he is willing to import, export and freight collect, two pairs of racing Sions from Edmonton, Alberta, at $25.00 each.

In fact, such a fan is he that the racers measure up to the world's finest. He has a long list of winners, and he has a long list of winners, and he has a long list of winners.

The legend: "We are on a long journey, please give us a drink." It is stamped on the top of the crate, where a bag of food is tied.

Born in Birmingham, England, Mr. Walters has been a pigeon fancier from away back and when he follows a hobby he doesn't stop. He has a long list of winners, and he has a long list of winners, and he has a long list of winners.

He has been breeding the birds since 1911, and his little Nelson avenue "chicken" is now in such shape that a man dare not take off his hat within flying distance of the place.

Racing pigeons are daring here that a man dare not take off his hat within flying distance of the place. "It's just a hobby with me," grins Tom Walters as a reporter asks him the story.

ROOSEVELT'S TAX PROGRAM IS ASSAILED

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Business and industry, as represented by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Thursday unleashed a furious and long-fought assault on President Roosevelt's tax program.

It described the plan as destructive, confiscatory, and as a "perversion of the taxing power" of the federal government.

Simultaneously, sarcastic decriers broke out in the senate for the organization, among whom were William A. Rorer, Arthur Lee, and others.

The meeting was addressed by Mr. Rorer, who said that the tax program was a "perversion of the taxing power" of the federal government.

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS The Spa of Canada

By EDGAR T. WILSON

THE dictionary defines the word "spa" as a mineral spring or watering-place, named from the old Belgian resort, Spa. A word ancient enough in origin, no doubt, but the knowledge of the health-giving properties of these mysterious bubblings on the earth's surface is even older.

Call it racial divination if you will—one of the accidental customs cultivated by the race from early times, so strangely confirmed by the findings of modern science—but it is certain that the "magic" of the springs was known from the earliest of times.

To these wondrous wells of health flocked an endless human chain, a chain seeking new vigor of body and mind, and the Spas of Europe became famous. No one asked the "why" of these waters.

That they received its benefits was enough, and the cobble roads of Europe were crowded with the faithful.

Now the mystery is gone. But medical science, turning its powers of chemical analysis upon these waters of century-old curative value, tells us why they act that way. They contain minerals similar to those in the human body in their most assimilable form. These cleansing waters gently stimulate the vital organs—the skin, the kidneys, the liver, the digestive tract—and thus eliminate the toxins of infection from the system.

With these vindications, the therapeutic fame of natural mineral waters is today greater than ever, and roads that once resounded to the rattle and hoof beats of another age are now thronged with the stream-lined wonders of today, leading to the Spas of Europe and North America.

Around these watering-places have been built up some of the world's most famous resorts and pleasure centres. Consider the names of Wiesbaden, Baden-Baden, and Bad Nauheim in Germany, and in England, Buxton and Bath. What a wealth of pageantry is in them! But they are, alas, for most of us, mere conjurations of the mind, figments of fancy met in book or picture that are fated to remain forever as such. But if geography thwarts us, we have still the varied store of our own British Columbia. And right here, within two and a half hour's drive from Vancouver, is one of the world's most authentic and valuable spas.

In the mineral springs of Harrison experts state British Columbia possesses curative waters comparable with those anywhere in Europe. One of Western Canada's leading physicians and radiologists, returning from a convention in Sweden two years ago after visiting the leading Spas of Europe, informed an influential group of Vancouver citizens that although there are hundreds of Canadians visiting the European Spas, Harrison Hot Springs not only compares on an equal basis with them, but its waters are more highly mineralized than the best Spas in the world.

This statement is particularly credible when we consider that Bad Nauheim, which is famous for its recuperative qualities as applied to heart cases, is identical with Harrison Hot Springs both as to elevation and location, but in addition, Harrison, with its low altitude and its bracing, high mountain air, is extremely beneficial in nervous cases as well.

Strangely enough, the Indian lore of the coast had accredited the springs with mysterious strength-giving powers, and their inland pilgrimages to the bubbling rock became strange, ceremonial rites dedicated to the gods of strength and power. And now, from their sleep of ages, interrupted only now and then by dreams of lithe brown men who quietly came, performed their odd rites, and as quietly departed, the shores of Harrison Lake are awakened by the coming of a new race—a race restless for discovery, and possessed of a zeal for investigation—who have wrested from it the secrets of its waters and have told them to the world, making of them a mecca for travelers from far and near.

And on the shores of this modern Galilee, that more travellers might come and stay to partake of the cleansing water, they have built a beautiful hotel, the Tudor-styled architecture of which falls like a gem set by the hands of a master lapidary into its natural setting.

Vancouver old-timers will remember the first hotel at Harrison—the old St. Alice—for it still lingers in their memories, a picturesque building near the Springs, tucked away in an idyllic setting of mountain and lake, where now stands its more famous successor. This, however, was 35 years ago. After the fire of 1921, with the St. Alice completely gutted, Harrison knew a period of quiet broken only occasionally by an errant traveller or two, until an enterprising group of Vancouver business men visualized its possibilities. They decided to embark upon a major project that was ultimately to blossom into the present Harrison Hot Springs Spa, representing an investment of over $1,000,000, with an average yearly maintenance of something like $100,000—one of British Columbia's leading enterprises.

At the hotel, in its atmosphere of refined gaiety, one quickly forgets—forgot the irksome problems and the deadly pressure and turmoil of everyday existence.

Jaded appetites respond to its touch and the mind becomes keen and alert in the vibrant mountain air. An air of easy intimacy pervades this famous hostelry—an excellent milieu for the rich enjoyment of friendly contacts. Towards the end of directing the mentality of her guests outward and into the active channels of relaxation and play, Mlle. Marguerite deftly brings to the hostelry a personality that is part of its charm. With a wide experience and savoir faire of Europe's most famous spas and resorts, "Miss Marguerite," as she is popularly known to her guests, has done much to elevate the prestige of Harrison throughout America.

A place to linger? pause and reflect is Harrison. Follow your moods. Do you feel like a lazy day, with just enough excitement to temper it? Come with me—the boat is ready and the fish rise gamely to the fly. But you would prefer action, a challenge to young muscles and rising, buoyant spirits? Here it is, about this mountain trail, to the ring of linking bolls or horses' hoof. A leisurely game of bowls, a stiff round of tennis or golf, or perhaps a refreshing swim in the indoor pool? All these await at Harrison. No whim is left unacted to.

If you know Harrison, you will know Dr. McCaffery. A student of the methods of Dr. Lorentz of Vienna, Dr. McCaffery has been attached to Harrison Hot Springs for the past 22 years. Under his supervision, an elaborate medical science has built itself around the health-giving waters, including water treatments, diets and daily exercise, which has given relief to thousands of sufferers throughout the world.

And what are the possibilities of this unique British Columbia tourist attraction? In Vichy, France, in the worst year of the European depression, 100,000 people passed through as guests. In 1929, 170,000 visited the renowned resort. During the summer months, 84 of France's leading physicians are established at Vichy. As to commercial possibilities, in 1931 6,000,000 bottles of Vichy water were shipped. . . .

Yet Harrison will not change. It will remain as nature left it, wrought gem-like beside its lake of blue, while nature, caught and held forever in a mood of reckless creation, weaves her fantastic mountain patterns on every side. From the terrace of Harrison Hotel, one gazes upon the sparkling blue waters, and in the distance, the clear outlines of huge mountains sweeping clear from the heavens to the lake. Yes, Harrison is indeed a place to reflect . . . and a place in which to abandon oneself to the sheer enjoyment of living.

ALABAMA PITTS PROUDLY DISPLAYS LUCKY SEVEN TO ALBANY TEAMMATES

EDMONTON'S baseball tandem will have an opportunity to look over two of Central Alberta's threats for provincial supremacy tonight and Sunday when Albion and DeWitt, respectively, appear at Rexford Park in exhibition games.

Unlike their last appearance here, Albion will be fortified by their first-string catcher, Cliff Robinson, who will add a lot of pep and hitting power to the team.

They will have their first-string moundmen ready for duty, and are hopeful of bagging a win.

TONIGHT will see the first appearance of Herman Loblick, the Spruce Grove ace, since he twisted his right arm, and he will be expected to pitch for the Albion team.

There is no doubt that Pembroke, to mention but a few, offer serious opposition to Rexford's plans, but he may be able to turn the trick at that.

Victory of the Ridley College cricketers today and tomorrow is attracting the attention of every sports-loving citizen interested in the ancient game.

IN W. E. N. Bell, the Eastern Collegians have one of the finest bats in the country. He is ranked with the very best that the province has to offer and can display his best wares in at least one of the games here.

Spain fans throughout this country and the United States will join in wishing all possible happiness to Jimmy Laraine, who was married in Vancouver to his childhood sweetheart.

Stretch Winning Streak to Ten by Shutting Out Army and Navy

By TOMMY GRAHAM

Orange Crush girls made baseball history in the City Girls Baseball League Thursday evening when they stretched their win streak to 10 straight with an 8-0 victory over the Army and Navy team in their encounter at Boyle St.

In doing so they accomplished a feat never before recorded in the league's history, namely being the first team to win 10 straight games.

Phyllis "Chubby" Walters, captain of the Crushers, who has played the leading role in their remarkable feat, also tossed herself into the fray with a brilliant performance.

RIDLEY STARS CLEVERLY WIN AT SASKATOON

Touring Cricket Eleven Brilliantly Field in Exhibition Game
SASKATOON, July 12.—By virtue of the most part, beautiful folding the touring Ridley College cricket team defeated a representative Saskatoon eleven by compiling 136 runs as against 77 scored by the local batsmen, in an exhibition game played at the city park yesterday afternoon.

The debut of all long hits by the play of the Saskatoon team as taking the game as a whole the bowling and batting of the Saskatoon players was on an equality with that of the visitors. Runs in the deep field told the tale. Whereas in the past few years the young Ridleyites, their average is but 17 years went to the boundary for four, very few of the likely boundaries from the bats of Saskatoon reached that object, thus perhaps some 20 or more runs were saved not only by the ability and clever handling of the ball by the youngsters but also because of the fact that the visiting bowlers were to well coached that every batter was cowed and kept.

Whereas in some instances in Saskatoon's fielding the ball would be chased by two or three into the visitors maintaining their respective position and consequently no unnecessary energy was expended running after hits.
